

International workshop on

Measuring discrimination, inequality and deprivation: Recent developments and applications

Organized by CEPS/INSTEAD at the Miami University Dolibois European Campus, Differdange (Luxembourg)

October 24-25, 2008

On the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the "IRISS" programme (Integrated Research Infrastructure in the Socio-Economic Sciences), CEPS/INSTEAD organises an international workshop on October 24-25 at the Castle of Differdange (Miami University European Campus).

The workshop will consist of about twenty paper presentations on the theme "Measuring discrimination, inequality and deprivation. Recent developments and applications". The conference is closely linked to project "MeDIM" currently sponsored by the FNR.

Participation to the full workshop is conditional upon prior registration, as the number of seats is limited. However, one plenary session open to the public will be organized on Friday October 24, 4pm-6.30pm. The plenary session is open to the public without prior registration and will be followed by drinks and refreshments.
